Maximising your benefits through a one source option

IDS Group has a dedicated in-house investigation co-ordination team with extensive investigation experience. IDS has the ability to undertake multi faceted investigations employing various investigative methods. Our investigation team is contactable at all times to discuss client requirements and provide advice and investigative strategies.

Our clients benefit from using a single source provider, eliminating exposure to risk which can arise from having to retain different suppliers for different needs.

At IDS Group, we use widely accepted investigative methods and ensure our investigators are trained in the latest evidentiary requirements and relevant legislation.
